Syscom Tech Achieves Certification to IECQ HSPM QC 080000 and ISO 9001:2000 Simultaneously

Nashua, NH -- November 28, 2006-- NSAI is pleased to announce that they have issued the first IECQ HSPM QC 080000 Certification for a contract manufacturer of cable assemblies and wire harnesses. Syscom Tech is a contract manufacturer located in Moorestown, NJ, they have achieved certification to both IECQ HSPM QC 080000 and ISO 9001:2000 simultaneously. IECQ HSPM QC 080000 is the Hazardous Substance Process Management System launched off the foundation of ISO 9001:2000 and demonstrates compliance to the RoHS and WEEE directives.

"QC 080000 Certification provides our customers the assurance they need that Syscom Tech is capable of manufacturing fully RoHS compliant products - not just lead-free. This certification also provides us with a significant marketing advantage as we solicit new customers", said Peter Anninos, the President of Syscom Tech. "CMS provided us with the experience and support that we needed to achieve certification quickly and cost effectively."

"Syscom Tech has taken an important step in their commitment to quality by implementing both ISO 9001:2000 and IECQ HSPM QC 080000 quality management Systems. This achievement should put them a step ahead of their competition" said Chris Morrell Development Manager at NSAI.
